The Word of God at the feast of the St. Peter and Paul, the apostles (Excerpt)

… Oh, son from My people, what would you do, if you had to go and again, to go through hardships and troubles of all sorts, as My disciples on earth, so as to sow all over Me and My kingdom of heavens among the people? What would you do, son? Would really go? You would not go son, for you are poorly of everything; of gold and power, of bag and staff, even of faith son, or even of courage, for today the kings of the earth are devoid of wisdom and no one would receive you with the tidings of new age. Today satan is walking on earth son, dressed in a dyed garment on which it is written "God"; he is walking with his pockets full of gold and silver and is interfering in everything, even in the places sanctified for Me, sanctified by the saints and parents, and the desolation of abomination in the holy place, proclaimed by the prophets, is greater than what is written in the Scriptures, for the man of today is a master with a high education and is smart in the opposing work to God, and he deceives the weak one and draws him to the work without God.

Oh My people flee from the man full of school, full of riches, full of his wisdom, who wants to tell you something about God. Flee and flee far away from the man wrapped in vein glory, in human glory. Flee away son, flee and stay poor in spirit before Me and love just one Spirit, the Spirit of God; the one who makes you to be like Abraham, Moses and Me, son.

… I miss you, son. I am very much pleased to dwell with you, My people Israel. I long, I very much long to see the one who testified about Me through My work in this garden, My bishop, to see that he stands up again. His name stands witness before the heaven and before the earth, and there is no hand or word to wipe out his name on the stone of this time. The heaven cries because of his sufferance, because of his fettered steps. Well sons, I will send My angel and I will send My disciples to cut his chains and to make him awesome in My name to all those who have trampled over him in unbelief, in unbelief in God the Word, Who speaks again from the clouds over the earth. I am speaking now as I spoke with Moses, with Elijah, with Israel, with My disciples and with all those who believed that I was, and I am in the word, as it is written that I am. I will prepare a day of great glory and I will glorify Myself in the one anointed by Me for the testimony of My work of today, and everything that is opposing or careless will see My glory in My anointed one, for his anointing is great, and there is no hand or mind to tear down this pillar from My heights. The people of the church have been fighting in vain, they have unnecessarily been struggling, for My people is good, My people is taught by God to be good and to fulfill through it My Scriptures that have remained. And the man of the church will see because I will open his eyes to see that I, the Lord, do not waste time through the faithful ones of My word of life giving.

However, you should be good, My dear people, and you should say like Me: "Father, Father, forgive those who do not know what they do and do not know that they say. As the good One, forgive those who do not believe that You are to the end with those who believe in You and in Your word, spoken by You from the clouds of Your glory."

Sons, sons, there are both visible and not visible clouds. Israel saw the invisible cloud of My glory; he saw where he had to go; he saw in order to believe, but when he got tired of believing, he gave up his steadfastness, patience and obedience. But I want to lift up the old Israel. I want it to hear and to make him believe. My word goes everywhere and will go and breathe a living spirit from him and will raise the people of Israel too, for I do not forget the perseverance of Israel's remnant. He did not receive Me then as the Son of God, but he shall receive Me, for this is written. That is why I needed a living church and a heavenly church in a living church on earth. Let Israel hear; let it hear and raise the Lord's people, for the glory of the Lord has been glorified in him.

Israel, Israel of today, you shall be the Samaritan's son, dear Israel, so that I may speak great forgiveness over those who ask for forgiveness and to give the joy of salvation and of eternal life to all those who will see this way on which I walk with you, people of the way. Amen, amen, amen.
