The Word of God

... I gave you love above any angel or any saint. Do not play with My words, for they are not an earthly toy. Beloved people of these times, of the centuries, if you were a wise philosopher, you would know every word that God had put into your arms like a heavenly message. But I did not say: "You are not worthy of Me", for I wanted you to be above any saint. I have not revealed to anyone what I have revealed to you. My beloved people, it is written for you to be with Me since the beginning of the centuries. Pity the one who, having heard these words, would not come to live in the holy heavens, for his punishment would be bigger than any other sinner's.
