

The Word of God on the sixth Sunday after the Passover, of the blind man
(Excerpt)

Amen, amen I say to you, sons: «He, who believes in Me, will never perish, and will have eternal life», and he, who is haughty cannot understand this Scripture, which is Mine; he cannot believe the truth of this Scripture. Amen.

I come to you with My Scriptures, My people of today, as today I have no other people except you, and I want to have you only Mine, son of My word. No one on the earth believes that he cannot be both with God and with the devil, as he, who serves only a little bit to the devil, cannot be of any good to God, because I cannot stay this way with the man. I am a jealous God, and I want the man only for Me, and I do not want him otherwise.

Amen, amen, I say to you, My people: he, who believes in Me has eternal life and does not die, and he, who dies, does not believe in Me. He, who believes in Me, comes to life and is alive and believes, and he, who does no longer believe, is no longer alive. I told the first man; I told Adam: «If you do not listen, if you take what I told you not to take, you shall die in that day», as for the one, who does not believe what I tell him, that one is no longer alive, and no one understand what the end of the world means; no one, My people. He, who does not believe in Me, is not alive. This word that I have been coming with on earth for forty years, in fact even for forty-five years, as it is written in the Scriptures and in the prophets, this word is for the judgment of unbelief, (See the selection topic: „The fearful judgment¹”, r.n.) as the people do not know what the end of the world means, and the unbelief is spreading upon the people to all the margins, but My word goes as swiftly as an arrow, which suddenly stops at the place where it falls, and the end of the world means the disbelief in God. (See the selection topic: „The end of the world and the Day of the Lord²”, r.n.)

Oh, My loved Israel, the man put My word aside; he has always put it aside, not only now. It is written for man: «Man, you shall not take the name of the Lord in vain», as the Lord will not forgive such a man. But the man is blind, as the blind man sees only those that are worked by him. The man, who takes the name of the Lord in vain, is blind, and he gives his name on everything he does. But behold, I tell you a mystery, sons, as after the good fell from man, the man replaced the good from him by haughtiness of his own self, with the evil, sons. And how comes this? Open your ear to My wisdom in you and listen to it. When God created the heaven and the earth, the light and the day, the night and the expanse of the sky, a boundary for the waters, and the dry land which He called earth, and the green grass with seed in it, and the trees with fruit after their kind, and the sun, and the moon, to give light to the day and to the night and for the signs of the seasons, and the stars to give light to the earth, and all the living creatures on the earth and in the waters, and the birds to fly on the earth and in the open expanse of the sky, and the fish, and all the animals, and the creeping things, and all that God made in the beginning; God saw that everything He did was good, and then He made the man to have dominion over the earth, over the fish, over the birds, over the animals and over all the animals that creep on the earth. God made the man, male and female, and God saw that everything He did was very good, and the man did not know something else but the good that God did, and God told the man what is good; He told him to shun evil. God built the Garden of Eden for man and took Adam and put him in the garden to dress it and to keep it, and commanded Adam saying, «Of every tree of the garden you may freely eat: but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, you shall not eat of it: for in the day that you eat of it you will surely die». And then the Lord made a suitable helper for him, as Adam gave names to all living creatures that God made, and the Lord looked to Adam to see how he would name each one of them, as at the beginning God let the free will be upon man. And Adam did not find a suitable helper for him of all the living creatures that he gave names and then God caused a deep sleep to fall on the man and took the woman of him and brought her to him to give her a name. And then Adam said: «She will be called woman because she was taken out of man; therefore a man will leave his father and his mother, and will join with his wife, and they will be one flesh». This is what Adam spoke after God made the woman of one of Adam's ribs. And behold, Adam had God as father and mother, and said: «A man will leave his father and his mother and will join with his wife and will be one flesh».

Sons, sons, Adam took his free will even from the beginning after God made him. Then it was nothing but the good and the man that God made to have dominion over everything that was made. The man gave birth of him to evil; he gave birth of him to disobedience and insubordination, and the man was not submitted to God, and then he lost himself from God. And after the good fell from men, the man replaced the good from him with haughtiness of his own self even from the beginning, My people. Oh, Israel, even from the beginning, the man separated from God and joined with his woman and became one flesh. Every man loves himself and his wife, and the woman loves herself and her husband, and no one loves God anymore, as the man said even from the beginning that he would leave God; and the man and the woman would join together and they would be one flesh. The man did not believe in Me, to listen to what I said to him and not do what I commanded him not to do. This was the only commandment that I put upon the man: not to eat good and evil, as the man cannot serve both to God and to the devil. And when I came with the commandments upon the fallen people, the first commandment was so: «Man, you shall love God with all your heart, with all your mind, with all your virtue, and with all your soul», as he, who does not love God, does not have love from God; he has no love.

One like that has love for his own self; he has haughtiness of his own self, he has got love without God, and not as the man from the beginning had. Oh, sons, the one who loves, does not need love, as he has love and does no longer need it; and the one who does not love, seeks love; that one needs love and seeks to be loved; he seeks it in those that are seen; he seeks love with man. The one who loves has God, and the one, who does not love, seeks love; he seeks to be loved.

... Oh, Israel, you, son, shall not take the name of the Lord your God in vain, as this means unbelief. You shall not take the word of God in vain, for disbelief means the end of the world, son. You shall not be like the man in the beginning. You shall do like Me, son, for I have always listened to My Father, but the man in the beginning did not listen to his Father and did not want to have any father and mother, and he wanted to have a woman instead; and he did not want to be one body with his mother and father, and rather he wanted to be one body with his woman. Oh, how shall a man not separate from his father and mother to take a woman if man separated even from God for his woman!

... Oh, My people, I come to you with a word from the Father, so that the man may hear My word and come back to life without death. I am helping Myself with you, son Israel, for the people who say that are My servants on earth, are one body with the woman and do not want to be one body with Me so that I may help Myself with them to redeem the man fallen down from heaven. Let you be My reached hand for the man; let you be the tool in My hand, My people, for look, Adam did not do well when he said, and because he said so well, he hid into himself, he hid from Me, for he was afraid after he saw what he did.

Oh, blessed is the man who is denying of himself, for that one finds My peace, which is coming towards him. The one who is denying of himself, that one can love his neighbor who has, like him, the denial of oneself, who has God in oneself. The one who is denying of himself loves God and his neighbor, for it is no good for man to be alone. The man alone has his own will and listens to it, but the one who sits together with those that belong to Christ, that one seeks to please his neighbor in what is good. Only beside your neighbor you can break his heart, only then you can love God's advice and your advice, for who advises with his own self, that one is a haughty man and names himself the antichrist for himself. The antichrist is the man who does not let Christ to live in him, to reign in him as a God from heaven. The antichrist is the one who calls himself a Christian in order to deceive Christ, as it is today in the churches from the world, as the Christians from the world go to church and live a worldly life on earth.

... Oh, blessed is the man whom God rebukes and teaches from His law. Amen, amen, I say to you: the one who believes in Me will never die and rather will have eternal life. The one who dies, the one who does not have eternal life, does not believe in Me, and believes in his own self and does as he wants, as Adam did. But I want to make a great miracle with you, My people. I want to make a new birth of the world. I want to fulfill with you and through you this Scripture of the renewal of the world, and that is why I work in you the gift of faith and love of God, and of obedience and holiness, My people, as I have only you alive among the people. The one who believes in Me, is alive and believes. The dead one is the one who does not believe in Me, and behold, no one believes like you in My word of yesterday and today. You are waited by those that are alive in heaven and by those that are dead on earth. You are My tool that I fulfill My Scriptures of My second coming with, to make a new heaven and a new earth, and peace and righteous on them, and those that are not faithful will see you as a tool in My hand.
